On May 19th the Aquarium has organized a series of guided tours and lectures by chefs, with the highlight being the Deluxe Tour with Mary Sue, Susan and John Cleese. The tour includes a demonstration and presentation on wine and food pairings by Mary Sue, Susan and John.

Mary Sue and Susan have always been champions of the environment, and in recent years have stepped up their efforts with a host of environmentally-friendly policies at all three of their restaurants-Border Grill Santa Monica, Border Grill Las Vegas at Mandalay Bay Resort and Casino, and Ciudad in Downtown Los Angeles. Their website records quotes them. First from Mary Sue:

We're taking something we've done for a long time at home and bringing it into the workplace where we can have a greater impact. Now that everybody in our organization understands the facts about sustainable seafood and organics, we get a lot of positive reinforcement from our staff whose enthusiasm spills over to our customers and our purveyors.

Then from Susan:

Every time we take another baby step toward becoming more environmentally friendly, everyone feels more proud about our product. You don't have to do everything all at once. You can start with one thing like serving organic rice and beans and once that's in place, tackle the next frontier.

Isn't it time for the Food Network to invite Mary Sue and Susan back? America needs to know what "the Girls" have learned in the eight years since Too Hot Tamales and Tamales World Tour!

Meantime, they continue to contribute to environmental awareness.
